Disclaimer

1. Medical Advice Disclaimer

Doctor's Point Web provides access to qualified and experienced medical professionals for general information and consultation. However, the content and advice provided on this site and through its telemedicine services do not constitute personalized medical treatment, diagnoses, or prescriptions. All information and consultations are intended to offer general guidance and should not replace in-person medical evaluations or emergency care. Users are encouraged to consult their primary healthcare provider before making any medical or health-related decisions based on the consultations received through this platform.

2. Not for Emergency Use

3. Telemedicine Limitations

While telemedicine is a convenient option for healthcare consultations, it has limitations. Physical examinations are not possible in virtual consultations, which may impact diagnosis and treatment recommendations. #### 4. No Doctor-Patient Relationship

Use of this website, scheduling a consultation, or communicating with Doctor's Point Web does not establish a formal doctor-patient relationship. A doctor-patient relationship is only established when the patient visits a medical facility for an in-person consultation.

5. Privacy and Confidentiality

While we take reasonable measures to protect the confidentiality of consultations, the use of digital communication has inherent risks. Doctor's Point Web cannot guarantee the complete security of communications through this site. By using our services, you acknowledge and accept these risks.
